

About Me

I am a developer based in Bratislava, Slovakia. I am passionate about developing programs in Python, designing user-centered websites, as well as, analyzing and visualizing data.

Over the last couple of years, I have been preparing myself for a developer position. Lately, I have been intensively immersed in coding, which has resulted in over 100 completed projects, proving my knowledge of Python, CSS, HTML, and JavaScript.